Games To-morrow.

Norfolk at Portsmouth.

Swapping horses in midstream—the first time Lipe has used two pitchers in one game this season—did the locals little good yesterday afternoon, when Norfolk outbatted and outplayed them to the tune of 7 to 1.

Jackson worked in the box for four innings, giving two hits and two runs. It seemed to be an off day with him, as he was not twirling in his usual style, and Lipe replaced him with Revelle. "Dutch" made a brilliant beginning, six men being retired in order. In the seventh they hammered him out of the box, and things went from bad to worse when the men behind him lost heart and booted the ball about the field. The errors contributed largely to the defeat, but victory was not for Norfolk, nevertheless. Bertram, the Norfolk twirler, was at all times consistent.

Once, however, two hits were bunched against him, and these brought in the local only run. Up to the fatal seventh the game was pretty even, but here Lipe's men practically gave up, and the game was lost.

Rooster Sees Game.
Something over or below 5,000 people and a Plymouth Rock rooster witnessed the game. The crowd was pretty enthusiastic at times. The rooster saw the tide was turning and looked on with great nonchalance. Several unkind fans tried to disturb him with bottles, but he glanced at them with disdain and returned to his pickings in the rather empty grass.

Both Byron and O'Neill worked yesterday—O'Neill behind the catcher and Byron on the mound. Both did satisfactory work, though a few unimportant knockers took occasion several times to gibe O'Neill because he called a strike what it is.

Norfolk started the scoring in the first, when Seitz singled to left field, and Cummings followed with a single. Cummings followed with another single, but was thrown out attempting to steal second, after the first man up had scored. Jackson went out on a grounder to Lipe.

In the fourth, Jackson led in order in the first, and didn't last long in the second. Riggs went to first on Bonner's bad error, the ball being booted clean out into center field, and Sandherr sacrificed him. Titman sent a fly to Ruhland, and Riggs was thrown out at second base. Four men went to bat for Norfolk in the second inning, but only first on Ison's error. He was sacrificed to second by O'Neal, and Ruhland walked, stealing second. But Haas was caught by Jackson on third, and Smith flew out to Titman.

Hammered Revelle Hard.
Jackson retired at the conclusion, and Revelle took his place. Two strikeouts, two flies and two grounders retired the six men who faced him in the fifth and sixth, but in the seventh there was another and sadder tale. The men came to the bat, and Lipe booted a grounder that came to him and Haas was safe. O'Neal landed on the sphere for three bags, and Haas scored easily. Ruhland's two-bagger scored O'Neal, and Lipe's second error, when he threw the ball at Cummings' feet, gave a life to Smith. Bertram singled and Smith scored. Seitz sacrificed Bertram, and the runner came in on Bonner's single over Sandherr's head. Bonner died on second, however. Cummings got life on Ison's error, but, before anything more disgusting, Jackson struck out. It was a case of a three-bagger, a double and two singles and three errors. Thereafter the men went out in order.

Richmond's lone tally came in the sixth. Heffron sent one out into left field for three bases, but Lipe went out on a slow grounder to Ruhland. Kanzier dropped one over O'Neal's head, scoring Heffron. He was thrown out at second, however, and Riggs went out on a foul fly to Smith. There was no more scoring.

It was poor exhibition on Richmond's part all through. Nobody could hit, and they couldn't prevent Norfolk from hitting when stick work counted for something besides running up the batter's average.

The rooster, for all his big show of disdain, walked the field rather desolately. He has never missed a game, and will probably be there again. His favorite position is just behind the catcher, where he can see all the curves. The score:

ROANOKE BLANKS LYNCHBURG TWICE

Shaffer's Squad Proves Invincible, Winning Both Games With Ease.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
ROANOKE, VA., May 16.—Roanoke proved itself invincible against Lynchburg to-day, winning a double-header without allowing the Shuermakers to cross the plate. In the first game Morrissey held his opponents down to one run, while the Highlanders touched West up freely, getting six safeties off or his delivery. Lohr, Roanoke's second baseman, was taken ill during the first inning and was replaced by Gravelly, who showed up well. Westlake wrenched his side, and will probably be out of the game for some time.

Second Game.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
ROANOKE, VA., May 16.—Roanoke won the second game with ease, as it won the first, by a 10-0 victory. By bunching her hits in the fifth inning Roanoke scored her two runs. Vernuelle, for the locals, was steady at all times, and at no time allowed hits to be bunched. Whitham was touched up for a hit, but only in the fifth did they result in runs. The tabulated score:

MORE RECORDS SMASHED AT VIRGINIA

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., May 16.—The Johns Hopkins track and field team, which so signally defeated Dickinson last Saturday, was swamped to-day in the battle for Southern championship honors, the final score standing, Virginia, 75; Hopkins, 21.

The work of the athletes was phenomenal, considering the conditions. Two hours before the meet water was standing several inches on the track, and had to be baled off, leaving the track in a very soft and soggy condition. During the morning the track was so extremely wet that it was impossible to roll it. In addition to this there was a wind blowing directly in the face of the sprinters. Yet, in spite of these handicaps, a world's record was tied and five Virginia records (four of these South Atlantic) were smashed. Receptor, the phenomenal sprinter, again demonstrated his ability to take the world's record at will by going the hundred in 9.3-5 seconds. No sprinter perhaps ever ran any race under more adverse circumstances.

In looking over the course after the event it was found that Receptor's spikes had torn great pieces off the track four to five inches across and three inches deep, thus demonstrating clearly the poor condition of the track. Notwithstanding this he tied the world's record, the most famous sprinter in the world has ever produced under favorable circumstances. There is not a shadow of doubt but that, under favorable circumstances, and in the same condition that he is to-day, Receptor could have made 9.2-5 or better. This was the opinion expressed by Manager Stewart of Hopkins, and other enthusiasts in the largest crowd that ever saw a track meet at Virginia.

The new 220 straightaway had just been completed and the effect of the morning downpour was anything but beneficial on the new portion. Yet Receptor repeated in the 220, running the distance in 21.4-5 (a new South Atlantic record), which certainly would have been a good christening for any track under the best conditions.

Hardly less notable was the work of Stollenwerk, of Hopkins, who won the quarter in 52.2-5, the first time Hopkins has defeated Virginia at that distance for many years. It was perhaps the most spectacular race ever run in the South, the Hopkins man being opposed by Goodwin, the Los Angeles flyer, each man alternating in the lead at least a dozen times. The spectators were on their feet holding their breath, as the runners fought their way to the tape. Stollenwerk, by a last remnant of reserve power, pushed slightly to the front at the finish, the victor by two inches.

Brenton, of Hopkins, won the mile by fully fifty yards in the time of 4:37.3-5, breaking the Virginia record of 4:40, held by Boesher, of Richmond, who will again be seen wearing Virginia colors the coming fall. Brenton will also probably be seen in a Virginia uniform.

Hopkins annexed both places in the hammer, but lost the shot, the other weight event. In Deming, who took second in the broad jump, Hopkins has a comer. Next to the quarter, the half mile was perhaps the most exciting.

Ford, of Louisville, Ky., a Virginia freshman, repeated the trick of last Saturday, and again nosed out Thurlow in a heart-breaking finish, winning by about a foot, and incidentally making a new Virginia record of 2:04.5-5.

Martin and Holladay both established new Virginia records in the hurdles. Martin capturing the high in 15.3-5, and Holladay the low in 25.3-5. Especially praiseworthy was the work of Randolph and Taylor, the former getting two seconds of training, while Taylor took first in the pole vault, although suffering from a bad knee.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., May 16.—University of Virginia field day results: 100-yard dash—First, Receptor, Virginia; second, Ashby, Virginia. Time, 9.3-5 seconds.

220-yard dash—First, Receptor, Virginia; second, Ashby, Virginia. Time, 21.4-5 seconds.

440-yard dash—First, Stollenwerk, Hopkins; second, Goodwin, Virginia. Time, 52.2-5 seconds.

880-yard run—First, Ford, Virginia; second, Hurlow, Virginia. Time, 2:04.5-5.

1 mile run—First, Brenton, Hopkins; second, Gray, Virginia. Time, 4:37.3-5.

120-yard high hurdle—First, Martin, Virginia; second, Randolph, Virginia. Time, 15.3-5 seconds.

220-yard low hurdle—First, Holladay, Virginia; second, Randolph, Virginia. Time, 25.3-5 seconds.

High jump—Randolph and Holladay tied for first place at 5 feet 5 inches. Did not jump tie off as they preferred to save themselves for other events.

Broad jump—First, Martin, Virginia; second, Deming, Hopkins. Distance, 21 feet 11 inches.

Pole vault—First, Taylor, Virginia; second, Martin, Virginia. Height 10 feet 6 inches.

Shot put—First, 5 1-2 inches, hammer throw—First, Bryant, Hopkins; second, Miller, Hopkins. Distance, 116 feet 6 inches.

YALE VICTORIOUS OVER HARVARD IN TRACK MEET
CAMBRIDGE, MASS., May 16.—Speed and strength in the track events enabled Yale to defeat Harvard in the stadium in the annual games to-day by a score of 60.1-5 to 43.4-5 points. The victory also gave Yale permanent possession of the trophy offered in 1901. The Blue having defeated Harvard since that time in five years.

Yale took all the points in both the hammer throw and the pole vault, which settled the contest.

No records were broken, although Robbins, of Yale, ran the high hurdles in 15.1-5 seconds, a world's record, but the figures were not allowed.

LOCUSTDALE BEATS V. M. I.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
LEXINGTON, VA., May 16.—It took ten innings to decide the game between Locustdale Academy and Virginia Military Institute to-day, but in this last innings the visitors hammered the home team, while Scott for the institute added a tally with a homer. Both teams fouled raggedly, but in this respect the locals did the poorest work. The honors were about equal between Devault and Barnhardt, both striking out a number and allowing few hits.
